On Memoriam

Carter Halverson is the son of Bryan and Tisha Halverson. Carter was active in football, golf, and baseball and participated in basketball his freshman year. Carter loved leading the student cheer section and dressing up for theme nights. He was on the Honor Roll and earned Academic All-State in football. Carter was involved in Student Council and loved being part of the SO' Yearbook and Publications Class, serving as the yearbook business manager his senior year. He worked on the school newspaper, created the Wolverine Weekly slideshow, and prepared ads and designs for the new scoreboards. This past summer, he worked construction for B & J Builders and acquired the nickname King Kong, which quickly became a favorite among his friends. Carter planned to attend the University of Iowa after graduation to study business. Carter could light up any room with his infectious smile and big brown eyes. He was genuinely kind and truly cared about others, becoming friends with almost anyone. His light remains and continues to shine.

Believe, when you are most unhappy, that there is something
for you to do in the world. So long as you can sweeten
another's pain, life is not in vain.
